Abstract ... The speaker will discuss about his new book, Asia's Reckoning, which unpacks the old resentments, rival ambitions, and alliances of convenience that have defined the trilateral relationship between Washington, Beijing and Tokyo since the 1970s. If the United States laid the postwar foundations for modern Asia, now the anchor of the global economy, the new book reveals how that structure is falling apart.

About the Speaker ... Richard McGregor is a journalist and an author with extensive experience in reporting from East Asia and Washington. He was the Financial Times bureau chief in Shanghai, Beijing and Washington. A 2015 fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Centre for Scholars in Washington, DC, his work has appeared in The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Guardian and Foreign Policy and he has appeared on the Charlie Rose Show, the BBC and NPR. His previous book, The Party, won numerous awards, including the 2011 Asia Society book of the year and Asian book of the year from Japan's Mainichi Shimbun. He was born in Sydney, Australia.
